Circulation, Good Will Held Paper's Invested Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The supreme court today decided that for tax purposes a newspaper circulation structure, good will and Associated Press membership could be included as statutory invested capital.

The question was raised in an appeal by the Bloomington, Ill., Pantagraph in a suit involving tax payments on income and excess profits for the years of 1917 to 1921. It had valued circulation at $42,000, Associated Press membership at $30,000, and good will at $25,000.

A lower court ruled these were gratuities for which the paper paid nothing.

SECRETARY FOR WOMAN PASTOR LEAVES PLACE
Mrs. Kennedy Wins Long War As Daughter Starts on Long Journey

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The lengthy verbal warfare between Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, was ended today with victory for Mrs. Kennedy.

The "sore spot" of the family feud, Miss Mae Waldron, private secretary to Mrs. Pherson, against whom Mrs. Kennedy waged bitter warfare, was patched, with Miss Waldron leaving the employ of Aimee and Angelus temple.

Miss Waldron, who also was vice-president of the Echo Park Evangelical association, resigned her position last Thursday just prior to Mrs. McPherson's departure for the city, and was succeeded by Miss Roberta Semple, 19-year-old daughter of the evangelist in both positions. F. E. Winters, business manager of the temple, admitted the change today.

Mrs. McPherson, who had been with Mrs. Kennedy for years, incurred the enmity of Mrs. Kennedy, who demanded her removal. Mrs. Kennedy threatened to desert the temple if she remained, and the feud continued until last August when Mrs. McPherson and her mother came to blows.

A reconciliation between mother and daughter was predicted today, with Miss Waldron out of the picture. Both, however, were out of the city today. Mrs. McPherson and her daughter were believed to have gone to New Hampshire on a trip in hope of benefiting the evangelist's health. She was granted an extended leave of absence by the board of elders last week.

From New York the President Coolidge will touch at Havana, the Panama canal zone, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Honolulu, Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila and then return by the same route.

BABY BOY BORN TO MRS. HAROLD LLOYD

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26.—(UP)—A son was born to Mrs. Harold Lloyd, wife of the film star, in Good Samaritan hospital late last night. The child has been named Harold Jr.

Mrs. Lloyd was the former Mildred Davis, also a screen actress. They already have two children, Gloria and Peggy. The latter girl was adopted a month ago.

The child, weighing just four pounds, was born two months before it was expected, but it was given more than an even chance to live, and was placed in an incubator. Mrs. Lloyd was reported doing well.

SENATE READY TO CALL ALL OF COMMISSION
Tydings Resolution Asking Probe of Wickersham Report Taken Up

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The Tydings resolution to call the Wickersham report of the law observance commission for a report on "puzzling" phases of the commission's report was taken up by the senate today and amended to authorize calling of all 11 commissioners.

Chairman Norris of the judicial committee, which would conduct the investigation, opposed the resolution, contending that although he was dissatisfied with the report and with the commission's policy of secrecy no good end would be served by such an inquiry.

"In a single day the commission could find out whether any outside influences affected the commission," Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, said in accepting suggestions for an amendment to call all commissioners.

Senator Norris, Republican, New Hampshire, and Johnson, Republican, California, suggested calling the whole commission.

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, said the inquiry was "utterly useless" and would be a vast waste of time and money.

"We have spent about $400,000 of the people's money through this commission," Tydings rejoined, "and we ought to know what its report means."

Later on Tydings said he will introduce a resolution calling for publication of all evidence which the committee received in secret.

Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, suggested he do this right away.

Norris said the resolution was "just a little bit offensive" in its wording, but he added that he wondered himself if any commissioners changed their minds as a result of the evidence gathered.

MIDDLE WEST NEEDS HEAVY RAINS, SNOW

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The historic dry summer of 1930 is being followed by an unprecedented winter drought which may prove as disastrous as that of last year. It was indicated today in crop and weather reports from throughout the country.

Especially in the midwest, the reports showed, there has been so little snow and rain this winter that there is intense suffering in some sections and winter crops are facing destruction.

With dry winter months following summer days when streams and wells dried up and cattle died in the fields for lack of water, the situation in some states is becoming acute, it was indicated.

Kentucky and its neighboring states of the south-central section have been particularly hard hit, according to the reports, and in some cases, whole towns are suffering because of lack of water supplies.

PHYSICIAN USES PARROT'S BLOOD IN TRANSFUSION BY ERROR-PROVES SUCCESSFUL

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 26.—(UP)—The blood of a parrot flowed today through the veins of Lillian Fisher, 15-year-old infantile paralysis victim, apparently without harmful result, although it was injected in a transfusion operation through misunderstanding of a telephone consultation.

A Joliet physician, seeking the advice of Dr. George Weaver, Chicago specialist, regarding the girl's treatment, was told to use the "parents' blood" in a transfusion operation.

The physician understood Dr. Weaver to have said "parrots' blood." With the explanation that a "new method" had been discovered, the doctor caused a search to be made for a suitable bird. A Joliet woman finally submitted her parrot for the operation.

Five cubic centimeters of blood were transferred from the parrot's heart to the girl's veins by intermuscular injection, Lillian, who was in an critical condition, rallied immediately, recovering from a state of coma.

"ALTERNATE ROUTES" IS TOPIC OF BACCALAUREATE SERMON TO JUNIOR HIGH GRADUATES

A sermon preached last night by the Rev. W. H. McPeak, D. D., pastor of the United Presbyterian church, to the members of the mid-year graduating classes of Julia C. Lathrop and Frances E. Willard Junior High schools. In part Doctor McPeak said: "We are strangers in a strange world. We go this way but once. Inasmuch as we have never been over the road before, guidance is necessary. There are but two possible routes to be taken—the false, or the true. The one that leads upward or the one that leads downward. We cannot choose both, but must choose either one or the other."

"There is the route that leads in to a Blind Alley. Benhadad, King of Syria, was an enemy of Jehoram, King of Israel, and laid plans to harass Jehoram by every means in his power. Now, there was a prophet by the name of Elisha in Jehoram's domain, who kept the king informed as to Benhadad's plan. Time after time Jehoram slipped out of Benhadad's hand. Benhadad became suspicious that there was a traitor in his army—he called his men 'on the carpet' and found that they were all loyal, but that Elisha in Dothan was the one responsible for revealing his secrets. An army was sent to take Elisha."

"When the prophet knew why the Syrian army had come, he prayed that they might be smitten with blindness. Then Elisha went boldly among the Syrians and said: 'This is not the way, neither is this the city; follow me and I will bring you to the man whom you seek.' And he led him to Samaria. It sounds as if Elisha had played a huge joke on the Syrians. He must have had many a good laugh over it."

"The story points to something which is not a joke, but a sober fact, that there are multitudes of people who are being duped every hour, confused souls who, like the Syrians, are wandering about with infinitely worse consequences."

Many Switches
"There are many railroad tracks in and about the terminal. Party of switches, that lead to side tracks, but only one main route to the open country and on to the distant city. A few weeks ago the head of a great financial institution in Los Angeles pleaded guilty of misappropriating $8,000,000 entrusted to his care. Somewhere back there, he took the wrong route. It led into a Blind Alley. In San Quentin he can say 'I was duped. This is not the place for which I set out.' Others get on the wrong route, because they drift—carried here and there, according to the accidental set of the current."

"Elisa was a good man. He led the Syrian army that he might deliver it. Our peril often is that we deal with treacherous guides who mislead that they may destroy. Guides that beckon us to the path that leads by way of the clandestine meeting place; gambling den; race course and vanity fair in general."

"There is a Royal route—And he led them forth by the right way. That is a principle of guidance runs through the whole material creation and regulates the smallest particles and movements is abundantly manifest. Think of the millions of particles of dust in the air."

MILLIONS AWAIT RELEASE OF MAHATMA GANDHI FROM JAIL

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Millions of Indians awaited the release from prison today of their revered nationalist leader, Mahatma Gandhi. Unconditional freedom for past and present members of the All-India National Congress executive committee was ordered by Viceroy Lord Irwin. Orders which outlawed the working committee of the congress were cancelled.

The release of such important political figures as Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Vallabhbhai Patel, Mrs. Sarojini Haidu and Subhas Chandra Bose, was expected some time today. The India civil disobedience leaders thus will have an opportunity to meet and discuss the proposals of the Indian round table conference.

Upon his release, Gandhi will resume active command of the congress movement, which since he was imprisoned May 5, has had a score of leaders all of whom were arrested.

Gandhi, a frail vegetarian, has been weakened by his long imprisonment. He reportedly weighs just over 100 pounds. He was expected to rest a while before plunging into discussions of the congress' attitude towards the round table report, which will undoubtedly have a profound effect upon the Nationalist party and Gandhi's personal position as its leader.

SIX MISHAPS REPORTED IN THIS COUNTY

Long Beach Man Instantly Killed at Huntington Beach On Sunday
ONE MAN ARRESTED
Santa Ana Woman Slightly Injured Yesterday at Sixth and Broadway

ONE MAN was instantly killed, his companion was arrested and eight other persons hurt, in a series of six automobile accidents reported in the city and county over the week-end.

L. B. Moffett, 52, of 1013 East Sixteenth street, Long Beach, died instantly when the car in which he was riding with Ollie Russell, 34, of Fillmore, swerved over on the left side of the highway and crashed head on with a machine driven by Edna Stewart, of 1964 Fifth avenue, San Diego, on Ocean boulevard at Thirty-eighth street, Huntington Beach. The accident occurred at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning.

Moffett suffered a broken neck and a broken jaw, together with internal injuries when he was thrown through the door of the small Russell coupe. Physicians said death was instantaneous.

According to State Traffic Officer Lloyd Groover, who made an investigation, the Russell car swung over on the left side of the road and was struck by the oncoming Stewart machine just five feet from Russell's left side of the pavement. Russell swerved over to the left side of the road in passing a truck, it was thought.

Russell suffered minor cuts and bruises. He is in the Orange county hospital where it was said his hurts were not of a serious nature. He is under arrest by the Huntington Beach police department, being held pending the outcome of the coroner's investigation.

Miss Stewart suffered a broken arm and cuts and bruises and Dr. A. C. Steward, 71, who was riding in the car with her at the time was seriously injured. Both were removed to their homes in San Diego after being given medical aid at the Huntington Beach hospital.

The Stewart car was being driven west on the highway and Russell was driving east at the time of the accident.

The body of Moffett was claimed by his widow at the Disciplinary parlor in Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon. Coroner Charles D. Brown has called an inquest to be held over the body at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

William Levens, of 609 South Parton street, Santa Ana, suffered cuts and bruises when the car in which he was riding with H. D. Douglas, of 639 East Van Bibber street, Orange, collided with a car driven by Arthur Kelly, of 209 Hathaway street, Santa Ana, at Bockman Drive and North Main street last night at 8 o'clock.

He was taken to a physician's office and later removed to the Orange county hospital. His condition was reported not serious.

Charles Malvern, of 618 Cypress street, was slightly injured at 7 p. m. Saturday when he was reported run down by an automobile driven by Fred Bockover, of 1153 Camille street. The accident occurred in the 100 block on East Camille street. Malvern was taken to his home.

Mrs. G. H. Balyard, of Tustin, was given medical treatment at a local physician's office at 11:30 a. m. yesterday for minor injuries received when the automobile she was reported driving collided with a car operated by I. M. Phillips, 37, of Santa Susana. The accident occurred at Sixth and Broadway.

J. R. Gallegos, of 1315 West Third street, Santa Ana, reported that a girl whom he was taking to a dance, was cut about the knees when his car overturned at First street and the Garden Grove road at 7:30 o'clock last night. He did not know the girl's name, he said. The Gallegos machine collided with a car driven by Mrs. C. L. McCaffrey, of 11230 Olive street, Lynwood. No one in the McCaffrey car was reported hurt.

COAST GUARDS CAPTURE TWO FOREIGN SHIPS

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Two foreign vessels, both carrying liquor cargoes, were in possession of the United States coast guards today, and there was a possibility that the capture of at least one might revive issues raised in the "Im Alvo" case of two years ago.

Both vessels—Josephine K. of Nova Scotia registry, and the Tamiiscoua of St. John's—were disabled by one-pound shells after they refused to head warning shots from coast guard cutters. A shell struck the pilot house of the Josephine K. and mortally wounded Capt. William P. Cluett after a five mile chase in the lower bay here.

Three Sentenced To Jail For Driving While Drunk

NEW POLICY IN POLICE COURT PUT IN EFFECT

Three men, arrested by Santa Ana police officers over the week end on charges of driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor, pleaded guilty to the charge in Judge J. F. Talbot's court today and each was given a jail sentence.

In accordance with Chief L. C. Rogers' announcement that in the future all persons arrested for "driving drunk" would be so charged when they came to court, there was no effort made to have the charges reduced to reckless driving, as has been done here for the past several years, and each man was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor.

Contrary to what police officials anticipated, however, all three pleaded guilty. It had been stated that much time and trouble had been saved in the past by charging drunken drivers with reckless driving because in many cases the defendants would plead guilty to reckless driving while they would fight drunk driving charges.

The three men, one white, one a Mexican and the third a Japanese, are the first to be arrested since Chief Rogers made the announcement concerning this kind of case, and much interest was taken in the cases by city officials and police officers.

K. Fukakai, 40, a grocery store clerk, of Long Beach, was sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail. He was arrested at Wilshire avenue and South Main street at 10:20 p. m. Saturday by Officers Swain and Murillo. Fukakai said he had been drinking sake and was on his way to a dance at the time he was arrested. He was driving a small truck.

David Romo, 42, of 903 East First street, was sent to jail for 25 days. He was arrested on Western avenue, by Officer Jensen, traffic officer. The Romo car collided with a trailer which had been parked at the side of the road, officers reported. He said he had had two drinks which a man gave him.

H. V. Collins, 26, truck driver of Santa Ana, was sentenced to serve 20 days in the county jail. He was arrested at Third and Ross streets by Officer Lon Morris and had a girl with him at the time, who was not held.

When Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson desired to give Charles G. Dawes, United States ambassador to Great Britain, the result of the conference of naval experts on disarmament and to receive from him an important communication from Premier MacDonald this past summer, he made use of the transatlantic telephone service.

stration of the birds; they fly through skies, over misty seas, across mountains and plains with incredible accuracy. The sense of direction among insects is no less wonderful. If this principle of guidance pervades bird life and insect life, can we suppose that He will fail us. Will He who pilots winged creatures through space, leave mankind to a forlorn hope?

Life's Decisions

"In the question concerning what we call our worldly life—there is the love of art, trade, literature or the endless 'specials.' God gave those attitudes. Will He not give guidance in their use? Some naturalists say that the birds that migrate by night are guided by the stars—it is a beautiful thought, if true. We know that it is true that He will guide in life's decisions.

"In the battle of the ages, there have been many who have chosen the Royal route. They have been the leaders of the world in its upward climb. Their path has been reddened by their bleeding feet and made luminous by a halo of divine glory. Look at them! They are a shining army. Among them are: Gibbon, historian; Goethe of whom Carlyle said 'he was the master spirit, the spokesman of his age';

Cool-headed work by telephone operators at Hotel Marseilles in New York City averted a panic among the guests when fire broke out on the main floor and filled the hallways with dense smoke. The switchboard operators remained at their post telephoning the various floors until all the guests had been brought to safety in the elevators.

MISSING GIRL IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Santa Ana police today were searching for Florence Gluck, 40, who has been missing from her home here since last Friday, Sid Smithwick, assistant chief announced.

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT
You must not balk before your responsibilities and hold back because your heart aches and you feel so tragically alone. As Goethe cried: "Let us go forward over the graves of our dead."

Mighty tasks beckon you forward even though your heart is laden within you. The place which is crowded with blessed memories must be left behind, but you do not leave your dear ones there. They go with you on your way. Their tasks and yours now wait for you and you must not stay your steps.

COLLEGE HEAD GIVES TALK IN Y.W.C.A. HERE

The audience which greeted Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of Mills college, Saturday night filled the auditorium of the Y. W. C. A. to capacity.

Dr. Reinhardt has been active in the American Association of University Women ever since her graduation from college and she devoted the fore part of her address particularly to a discussion of the aims and projects of that organization, which include the furnishing of fellowships to women of outstanding ability who desire to do research work in foreign countries, and the International Federation of the A. A. U. W., founded in London in 1919 by women representatives from England, France, and the United States. Each year, subsequently, the international conference has been in a different country and each year new members have been added until this year, when the meeting will be held in Boston, there will be 32 countries represented. The aim of this international federation, Dr. Reinhardt, elucidated, is a better understanding between the peoples of various lands. As the members of the federation become acquainted with each other they come to appreciate more and more the unique qualities which each nationality has to contribute to the civilization of the world. This appreciation and tolerance of other peoples is of great importance in developing amity between nations of the earth and making war obsolete.

Having served as a delegate to many international conferences, not only of the A. A. U. W., but to such conferences as the Kyoto conference on Pacific Relations, Dr. Reinhardt drew on her wealth of experience for humor and illuminating episodes which were skillfully interwoven during her address.

On board ship, Dr. Reinhardt said she met a Chinese gentleman who asked her several questions about the object of her journey and the conference she was to attend in Kyoto. He told her she was the first person traveling to his country from the United States whom he had met who was not going there to teach them something or to sell something. In the Orient, Dr. Reinhardt said, the women are prone to individualized effort, in contrast with the organized effort of the women of the United States. The women there have more leisure, she said, for they do not trouble themselves with styles. They have been wearing the same style for several thousand years.

Mrs. Harold Gorton presided over the meeting Saturday night, introducing various members of the local organization of the Americanization Association of University Women under whose auspices Dr. Reinhardt was brought to Santa Ana. Mrs. Horace Scott, membership chairman, extended an invitation to all women who are graduates of accredited colleges or universities to join the association, or to become associated members if they are not graduates. Miss Anna Trythall, who is chairman of the fellowship committee of the local branch, spoke of the two projects now in hand for raising funds. Miss Lula B. Finley, who was a student with Dr. Reinhardt, introduced the speaker.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Jan. 26.—Considerable investigation is being made of the problem of old-age pensions.

Some governments and some industries have adopted such a system and it appeals to your sympathies. Only the experimental state has been reached so that its soundness has not been demonstrated. We are constantly trying to adopt reforms of such artificial nature so as to save ourselves from suffering from the defects of human nature as it is now constituted. No doubt some of our efforts are helpful and the fact that we realize our deficiencies and are intent on remedying them is most encouraging. Our failures lie in attempting to reach the goal by some short cut without really removing the cause of the difficulty. We try to reform ourselves on the outside when the only effective remedy is to reform ourselves on the inside.

What a self-respecting people really needs is not a system of old-age pensions but a population made sufficiently skilled by education and sufficiently self controlled and well disposed by the help of religion so that old-age pensions would be a superfluity. Unless real reform comes from within the problem will never be solved.

KETTLEMAN HILLS OIL WELL FLOWING

KETTLEMAN CITY, Cal., Jan. 26.—(UP) — Petroleum Securities company today was allowing Felix well No. 2 in Kettleman Hills north dome to clear itself out, following its coming in Saturday night under control.

The well was down 8100 feet and into the dark oil tapped by the Huffman when it was landed in 1281 feet of oil sand and produced. The new well will be trapped and tested starting tomorrow. It is expected to show 3500 to 5000 barrels of oil daily production, with about 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Felix No. 1, which had dropped off to 250 barrels daily, will be shut off and drilled deeper. Felix No. 3 now is down to the 5700 foot level.

The success and popularity which natural gas has attained here, its efficiency, low cost and the fact that it creates no smoke has prompted the construction of thousands of miles of transmission lines to supply not only the large cities but hundreds of small communities which have heretofore been without modern gas service, Manager Rutledge said.

Faces Charge Of Still Ownership

Eduardo Naponelli, of 2209 West Fifth street, arrested Saturday on a charge of owning and operating a whiskey still, was arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today and his preliminary examination set for February 3, at 9 a. m. Bail of $3,000 was demanded.

The still was discovered when Deputy Sheriff Dean went to the Naponelli home to serve a civil subpoena.

Services for Mrs. Lola Cook, whose body was found Saturday wedged in a truck in the harbor waters, will be held at the Clinkenberg parlors in the beach city Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

No inquest was held, the coroner deciding that death was caused by drowning.

Huddleston and Mrs. Cook disappeared on January 13 from the home of Mrs. Cook in Long Beach. Huddleston was driving a truck belonging to the Shaffer Tool works of Brea.

Huddleston is survived by his widow and two children.

Build 500 Million Feet of Gas Lines

Following the example set by Southern California during the past five years, there are under construction in various sections of the United States natural gas transmission lines with a daily capacity of more than 500,000,000 cubic feet, according to C. E. Rutledge, district manager here for the Southern Counties Gas company.

"The success and popularity which natural gas has attained here, its efficiency, low cost and the fact that it creates no smoke has prompted the construction of thousands of miles of transmission lines to supply not only the large cities but hundreds of small communities which have heretofore been without modern gas service," Manager Rutledge said.

SHERIFF WILL ORDER HOBOES TO LEAVE CAMP

The sheriff's office today announced that it would "break up" the old hobo camp, which for years has been the "home" of "gentlemen of the road" located near the Santa Fe railroad bridge over the San Joaquin creek, just outside the city limits of Santa Ana.

Deputy Sheriff Bells, Nicholson and McKelvey visited the camp yesterday after a report came from a rancher that some 50 smudge pots in his grove nearby had been turned over and the oil spilled out over the grove. Two of the pots had been punctured with revolver shots, it was reported.

Some 20 hobos were found in the camp at the time the officers made the visit. All were searched for firearms, but no guns were found and the officers told the residents of the camp that they would have to be on the move. No time was given for the breaking of camp, but according to Nicholson, the sheriff's office will see to it today or tomorrow that the camp is forever broken up and the men who stay there are kept on the move, outside of the county, he said.

Provisions for two weeks were found in the camp, officers reported. The camp has been here for years and almost every week officers from the sheriff's office, the police department and from other city police departments have visited it, searching for some criminal wanted on some charge or another, but this is the first time that word has gone out that the hobos must find themselves another stopping place, and break up the old camp under the bridge.

Recently more than 30 and sometimes 50 men have spent the night there. In the summer time the camp dwindles down to nothing, but as the winter months come along, the "population" of the camp increases in startling numbers.

JOB CANVASS IS LAUNCHED IN SANTA ANA

Sixteen men and women started out this morning to canvass the city for jobs. They met at the city employment office for instructions, and were assigned in groups of four to cover the four quarters of Santa Ana. Their task is to call upon every household and business establishment and ask for work. They will list odd jobs, permanent positions, and anything that offers for either men or women.

As fast as the opportunities are discovered, they will report to the employment office, and workers will be furnished to do the work. This project has been made possible by a group of business men who have guaranteed the expense of the canvass in the hope that it may reveal work to add materially to the jobs being provided by the city and county. They are not asking for gifts or charity, but for work, which will be distributed by the employment office on the basis of need and availability.

"We believe that our citizens will co-operate in this effort to find work," said R. R. Miller, Community Chest manager, who is superintending the work, "and if such co-operation is shown, we expect to make a decided impression on our unemployment situation. We hope that people will receive the canvassers kindly, and list with them anything that can be done in the line of work. We have registered at our office workers in almost every imaginable line of work, and we shall do our best to furnish competent workers for whatever work is to be done."

LOCAL PASTOR GIVES SERMON ABOUT LETTERS

"Letters," was the subject of the sermon preached by James H. Sewell, minister of the Broadway and Walnut street Church of Christ, yesterday morning. His text was taken from 11 Cor. 3:2—"Ye are our epistle written in our hearts, known and read of all men."

The speaker said in part, "An epistle is a letter. In writing to the Corinthians, Paul declared them to be his letter, and in the next verse, he says they are letters of Christ. He means by this that the world at large reads the teachings of Christ from the lives of His disciples. There are many kinds of people claiming to follow Christ, and these people make up a great variety of letters for the world to read."

"Sometimes we find a very marvelous thought expressed upon a very common material. It is said that President Lincoln wrote his immortal Gettysburg address on the back of an old envelope, extracted from his pocket on the way to the battlefield. Even so an individual may be poor material, but if he lays open his heart to receive the message of Christ, he may become a wonderful letter."

"Regardless of the kind of material the individual may be, he may become the kind of letter that is an inspiration and a help to all who read. In fact if he opens his heart to the instruction contained in God's word, and carries this teaching out in his epistle, and will be known by all men as a power for righteousness. Daily life he will become such an open book to himself. All Christians should therefore be exceedingly careful of their influence upon others."

To "Point-Up" Appetite Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out of sorts; food doesn't tempt you and you don't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated; just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

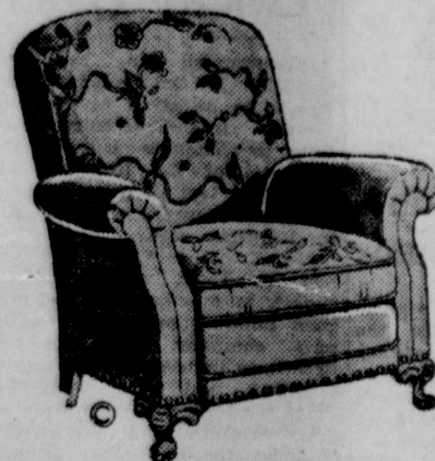

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Puts appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. All drug stores sell Cascarets for a dime, and no dollar preparation could do better work.—Adv.

SUTHERLAND TO BE RETURNED TO S. A.

Albert Sutherland, slayer of Bert Meeks, Wintersburg man, who was shot to death early this month, will be returned today to the county jail from San Quentin prison, where he already had started serving a sentence for manslaughter.

A stay of execution was granted Sutherland due to an appeal of his case which was taken soon after he was convicted in court here. The papers were not served on the sheriff's office before the prisoner was taken north, but due to the appeal he will be allowed to remain in the county jail pending a hearing of the case by the higher court.

The prisoners were taken north by F. L. Humiston and Ray Townsend, deputies, who will return Sutherland to Santa Ana.

Langley Concern Not Included In Injunction Case

It was learned today that the recent injunction granted by Judge G. K. Scofield after trial of the suit brought by the General Petroleum corporation of California against U. S. Cope, et al., did not include the Roy Langley Oil company, as was previously reported. The Langley company was originally included in the action but was dismissed as a defendant by the Petroleum concern about a month before the trial, according to B. Z. McKinney, one of the attorneys in the case. The injunction applies solely to Cope and his wife as operators of a service station and requires them to use only products of the General Petroleum company.

Society Begins Publication Of Historical Data

Work was under way today on publication of a new 150 page volume containing notes and papers of the Orange County Historical society, which have been collected and arranged by Dr. C. D. Ball, president, T. E. Stephenson and William McPherson, directors of the organization.

The book will be printed in the high school print shop here under the direction of T. E. Williams, head of the printing department. It is expected that the publication will be completed within three or four weeks. In the neighborhood of 300 copies will be printed.

Papers written by various members of the society will compose the main contents of the book and thus will be preserved in permanent form. The society has material on hand sufficient to fill a number of volumes and it is expected that this material also will be published at some future date.

PLAYERS WILL HOLD TRYOUTS HERE TONIGHT

A call to Community Players' association members, and to anyone interested in dramatic work, has been issued for the initial tryouts to be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in The Barn on McClay street just south of East Fourth street. "The Angel in the House," a sparkling comedy by Eden Philpotts and Donald Hastings, has been selected for the annual Spring Tournament of One-act Plays to be held in this city on April 16, 17 and 18.

"The Angel in the House" is to be staged in Ebbell auditorium on the nights of February 26, 27 and 28 under the direction of George Dunham, of Laguna Beach. It is hoped to have the play cast at an early date so that rehearsals may get under way at once. Cast requirements are for five men and three women.

Dunham, who is director of Laguna Beach Players, Ltd., has had gratifying success with his various productions staged in the Village. His experience has included various dramatic roles during student days at Pomona college; authorship of the senior class play when he graduated; and a return to the school to direct three May masques. He also was a member of the Harvard 47 Workshop and has taken many leading roles in Laguna Beach productions including the highly successful "Clarence."

KREG And Tustin School Launch New Radio Feature

TIMELY SERIES OF BROADCASTS IS SCHEDULED

KREG and the Tustin Union High school today launched a new radio project which is expected to be of far reaching importance in the field of radio education.

At 11 a. m., by remote control from an especially constructed studio at the Tustin school, the first of a daily series of programs was broadcast by KREG.

A 45 minute program was scheduled, having been planned by J. W. Means, principal of the Tustin school, in co-operation with KREG.

Today's program included an opening talk by J. P. Burke, of The Register; an address by Means, on the aims of the project; a talk by Ray Adkinson, county school superintendent, and a speech by John Malcom, principal of the Juan Capistrano High school.

Broadcast of organ music from the Tustin school will be one of the big features of the new project. Today's program listed selections by Alexander Reilly, well known for his organ music over KFI.

Following the talks, the program scheduled Ed Rogers, Tustin High school singer, presenting "In an Old Fashioned Town" and "Honey If You Only Knew," accompanied by the organ.

Tomorrow's program will feature the organ and also will present a group of vocal numbers. It will be heard from 11 to 11:30 a. m.

On Wednesday Anaheim High school students will provide the program at the Tustin studio. Other high schools of the county will follow during the succeeding weeks.

Thursday's program will feature special broadcasts of class discussions on timely topics. A musical program also will be on the air, presented by the students, and also on the organ.

Friday will see the broadcast of organ and vocal music again. The programs are to be given daily except Saturday and Sunday.

Rivalry between the high schools of the county is expected to add interest to the broadcasts. Each high school has a receiving set and it is expected that the various schools will tune in on the programs to be broadcast from the Tustin school.

A Debutante's Beauty Hints

THE debutante knows that if she is going to be beautiful in this year of clustered curls and trailing trains she has to mark her calendar with beauty resolves for every single date.

She is transforming her dressing table into a laboratory equipped with working materials. She realizes that it is more important to turn out a lovely, finished product than to have a silver-and-crystal-setting in which to do it.

First of all, she knows that her face must be as clean as it was in the days when it was scrubbed soundly with warm water and soap every morning before she skipped off to school. Her childhood complexion glowed under this treatment and she is using exactly the same method today. Every morning and every night she washes her face with pure Castile soap, using her fingers to apply the soapy suds. She has discarded wash cloths entirely, as they hold too many germs.

Next, she uses a fairly stiff complexion brush on the lather she has worked up with finger tips. The brush removes every particle of dust and grime and revives her drooping tissues. Then she rinses with warm water, letting it get cooler until it is cold. Rinsings are repeated again and again, the cold water serving as a tonic. A piece of ice, folded in a soft cloth, and rubbed briskly across her face, adds bloom. The wise debutante has noticed that men

Many girls are beginning to realize . . . that there are certain advantages in washing their faces just like a man washes his . . . that is, with soap and water.

The Antics of Annibelle

use soap and water instead of cleansing creams, and as a rule have clear skins.

ONCE in a while, she admits, a certain texture of skin refuses to accept soap without a burning, uncomfortable sensation. If you are subject to this unpleasantness, a good cleansing cream will take the place of soap and help to make you lovely. The cold water rinsing follows the removal of the cream with soft tissues.

The debutante knows that beauty experts are advocating milk baths for the face today, even more than in other years. Milk keeps the skin soft and white, and the new fashions demand the utmost femininity.

When the debutante uses milk she heats it first, then puts it into the skin with absorbent cotton. After an hour she removes it with cold water. If she hasn't 60 minutes to spare before she is due at a tea-dance or formal, she takes the count on as many as she has.

If the debutante is going out, she is ready for her make-up, after this treatment. If she is going to bed she uses skin food next, applying it gently with an upward, outward movement. The cream is left on while she bathes, as the steam will send a larger supply of it into the pores than an all-night mass of plain cream.

THEN she removes every vestige of the cream. She has decided to let her skin breathe this year. Night treatments are banished from her calendar. The debutante knows that faces grow tired, just like bodies, and they shouldn't have to spend the whole night trying to get stimulated through a layer of cream or lotion. She has another reason, too. If there should be a fire or an exciting burglary she would hate to appear before the public with a radiant, greasy nose.

And the debutante will tell you that she is getting results . . . or masculine homage, which is the same thing. People are asking her why she keeps her skin so young and flawless when she never misses a single ride on the social merry-go-round.

She doesn't tell them that cleanliness is next to comeliness. That would have about as much interest for the stage as a glass of warm water before breakfast. She just goes home and washes her face the right way.

Spring Hats That Brim With Chic

TRY and keep the spring hats from going to your head!

Palm Beach sponsors such becoming chapeaux that it will take a strong-minded girl to wear her winter headgear when her eyes light on the new confections that are called hats.

Straws predominate, many of those nice open-work weaves. Shiny panamalac is good for suit wear. Natural Panamas and the featherweight peanut Panamas that Paris loves are fine for sports.

The shape's the thing, however, that will intrigue your eye and delight your features. There's width at the sides, and some to spare, on many a model. Upward and outward seems to be the motto of these charming extraverts.

Of course it is the bicorn and tricorn influence. You all know how flattering they are. But new hats can't be just like the old. So these new head pieces have the side width, the upward lift of the winter mode, with added expansion to their brims and feminine curves often, instead of being so pointed about it all.

THE white hats of winter influence the coming spring mode. White and pastel shades will top many a suit this spring instead of having the hat match in color.

The light hat is more perishable than the dark one, but if you do take proper care of light colors, they repay you in their flattery, being much more becoming, as a rule, than dark ones.

You can have as little or as much trim as you want on your new bonnet. You can have ribbons, flowers or leather. You can have felt combined with straw to make a delightfully different chapeau.

Four of the most popular new shades, those that are apt to set the styles for the predominating number of spring hats, are the wide, irregular brimmed hat, sitting up on a bandeau; the larger tricorn or bicorn; always with a feather or ribbon trim to accent the corners; the dressmaker tailored hat, small-brimmed and feminine; and the little poke hat up on a bandeau but down on the sides, called the Watteau model.

ONE of the first type of hats is a dark brown ballbunt with a lighter tan felt bandeau and trim. The brim over the bandeau on one side and in the back is not very wide. The other side widens and is pleated in three cut pleats to break the monotony of plain surfaces. It has no banding, but out through the crown the felt breaks in two perky bow ends.

The second is the feminized tricorn, in a new green crin straw, with curled ostrich tips at the sides of a slightly lighter green.

It is essentially a suit hat and can be the color of your blouse more correctly than the color of your suit.

Third in line comes the little dress and suit hat that is a new shape indeed, with a straight brim, short in the front. It is made of dull, rough natural yedda straw, with three folds in the front of the crown, and the brim has a flange of the brown belting ribbon, pleated all around. Into this is placed a little feather bow of brown.

Last, but not least, comes the Watteau, which none but the prettiest should attempt to wear, for it is a young hat of charm and naivete.

This one is made of parakeet green visca with a cluster of green satin ribbon and a few little flowers at the back. It is the hat superb to top a dainty little spring frock.

not intended to harmonize with a dark brown taste . . . but it's a dark brown ballbunt hat, tan felt trimmed.

oooo look at the ostrich . . . trim on this green crin straw, tri-cornered, though not as bad as George Washington's cocked hat.

this dull red yedda straw has an edge on all other hats . . . the edge being pleated brown belting, which goes about the brim.

not whatta hat, but a Watteau hat . . . in parakeet green visca straw, flower trimmed.

Starting Boys Wrong

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THROWING snowballs at truck drivers was the cause of Jimmy's being kept after school. He wrote "I broke my word" 100 times, then trudged home through the twilight thinking it a heck of a world where a fellow couldn't have a little fun once in a while. "Why isn't the walk cleaned off?" his father wanted to know when he came in. "Jimmy was kept in and just came home," said his mother.

"What for?" "Oh, I guess I did some 'm'!" "Why can't you behave?" Jimmy didn't know, so he didn't answer, and anyhow if he did answer, he'd learned from experience that it would only be used against him.

He wasn't ashamed of throwing snowballs at truck drivers. No, indeed! They were "soft apples," he would have told you, and wouldn't hurt a flea. Besides there was one of those smarties that had squirted tobacco juice at him while waiting for a light to change, and yesterday a grocery boy had hit him in the eye at the same corner with a banana skin and laughed himself to death when Jimmy almost got run over dodging another car.

But discussion brought out details, he would be grilled about his punishment, and he would have to tell that he had written "I broke my word" 100 times on school paper with his name signed at the end.

SOME way or other he stuck at that. Every time he had written it resentment and shame had seared his soul alternately. Gosh! You'd think he'd murdered somebody, when all he'd done was to stand up with the class when the principal came in and asked how many would promise not to snowball drivers.

And then when he saw that grocery bozo (he was the same kid that sicked the big dog on that little one, one day), why, it wasn't the traffic light that made him see red. And before he remembered about standing up and looking solemnly at the principal, the grocery boy on the truck had had a sudden eclipse of vision and while making a dab to get the snow out of his eyes he nearly ran over the traffic cop.

The boy told the cop, but Jimmy ran. However, the next day the boy stopped in at the office and told again.

He hoped the matter was sealed and forgotten now as he quietly ate his supper, but next day the teacher suddenly froze his blood by telling the class that "James Arbuckle had been—well, she told every darned bit and 'hoped that none of the others would be so unprincipled as to perjure themselves." "Perjure" was the word she used, and as it was used in the papers Jimmy clasped it with courts. He was beginning to feel like a felon.

THE school gazed at him solemnly while he squirmed miserably in his seat, turned red and white and hung his head. That he had thrown snowballs at a driver seemed to be forgotten, but everywhere he moved his small person that day there was some reference made about his breaking his word.

His mother heard of it, then of course that same night his father learned the truth. He got down a book and read him a few pages from the "Life of Lincoln." His mother cried as she washed the dishes.

When Jimmy went to bed that second night he had lost his resentment and he hadn't a rag of self-respect left. He was a marked man.

Others would forget, but not Jimmy, for he had really decided by this time that he wasn't morally clean, that one day you were fine and good and honest, and the next, without feeling any different inside or acting any different from what you always did, some crazy thing happened and you found yourself in the thumbprint class. He was confused, hurt, helpless.

EVERYTHING that had happened in school that term, everything that happened at home, was twisted into that stale old chestnut about his not being a man of honor. He started various defenses that took calculation. He no longer thought straight. He had to feel around in circles, hurting under it all, trying to save his pride.

He became quiet, kept his own company, refused games, gave no one the slightest chance to rub salt in that festering wound.

All of such pseudo-moralizing I call rotten. There is so much of it done among children, turning thoughtless impulse into something abnormal and criminal.

Children should be talked to seriously, of course, but without the implication of viciousness where no such motive was meant. And not too seriously too much of the time, either. Occasionally, a self-righteous person who wields a little power, enjoys spilling out his own innate vindictiveness on the children.

There are no words strong enough to denounce such mistaken powers.

Buying Now For a House

Your Christmas check will bring new comfort to the living room . . . if you invest it in an easy chair, ottoman, end table, or lamp. (Illustration courtesy American Furniture Mart.)

NOW that the Christmas tree has been taken down; the tinsel and ornaments packed away for another year, it is time to survey the home and to see what you are going to do with the Christmas check.

When you were on your holiday shopping tour you saw countless large and small things you yearned to buy for yourself. You wondered how it could be so hard to buy for yourself when it would be so simple to buy for yourself.

Now you are free to think of yourself and home. Your Christmas check can be turned into an investment by a practical purchase.

If you have been wanting one of those delightful little powder tables, now is the time to get it. If your check does not cover the cost, make it the first payment. The tables are seen in many woods and in many colors, and you can find one to match your bedroom furniture or to contrast pleasingly with it. The glass-lined compartment for powder and cosmetics pleases the fastidious woman.

If you feel somehow that the Christmas check should be shared with other members of the family, some piece of occasional furniture for the living room will bring you joy.

ONE of those new refreshment tables—a coffee table with a drawer—would enhance the living room. A commode which is also a sewing cabinet would serve as a side table beside a chair and would give you a fine place to keep your pick-up sewing. If your living room does not need either of these tables, any of the many tilt-top, console, end or side tables would probably find a place in it. Perhaps you have always wanted a really comfortable chair for your very own. One of the early American or French provincial in vogue just now, would satisfy this desire and would be an excellent addition to the living room furniture.

Sunday Supper Menu

By MISSIS PHYLLIS

SUNDAY is an odd day in every household. Sometimes the family gets up late and has a larger breakfast than usual, which keeps everyone content until dinner at four or five or six. In other homes there is a hurried breakfast followed by a scramble to get the children off to Bible school, in which case there may be a luncheon when they come back and an evening dinner or a dinner at one or two o'clock with an evening supper. Whichever way it is, it is not as ordinary days—the luncheon isn't like a mid-week luncheon, and the supper is more like a tea.

Let's see what to have to eat for such occasions. It must be something not too heavy and still with enough body to fill a fellow up. And it shouldn't be fussy to prepare because the Sunday dinner is usually a bit fussier than mid-week meals and one extraordinary meal in a day is enough.

ONE menu consists of tuna fish salad sandwiches with tomatoes, chocolate cake, coffee and tea or milk.

For tuna fish salad sandwiches you will need 1 can white meat tuna fish, 2 stalks celery, 2 sweet pickles, 6 stuffed olives, and mayonnaise.

Drain the oil from the fish and flake. Put into a chopping bowl with the celery, pickles and olives which have been cut into small pieces. Chop until quite fine and thoroughly mixed. Then add enough mayonnaise to moisten. This much may be done early or the day before you want to use it, if you keep the container tightly covered. Cut day-old bread in slices a fourth inch thick. Spread one slice with softened butter, the other thinly with mayonnaise. Spread the filling on and cover it with a very thin and very cold slice of tomato. Press the pieces of bread together and cut into triangles. Serve with pickles and olives.

If there are children to be served, make them plain tomato sandwiches, omitting the mayonnaise.

A GOOD chocolate cake requires 1-2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1-3 cup milk, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter. Add sugar gradually, creaming as you add. Add egg yolk and beat till light and creamy. Sift the flour and baking powder together and add alternately with the milk, beating well between each addition. Beat the egg white till stiff, and fold in. Add vanilla. Bake in two layers in a moderate oven.

The filling is made from 2 ounces bitter chocolate, 3 ounces sweet chocolate, 1-4 pound sweet butter, 3 eggs, 1-4 pound confectioners' sugar, and vanilla.

Warm chocolate until melted. Add sugar, butter and vanilla. While still warm add eggs, one by one, stirring briskly. Spread thickly between layers, on top and sides.

That is a more expensive icing. For a cheaper one, use 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons hot coffee, 2 tablespoons cocoa, and as much confectioners' sugar as is needed to make it spread well.

ANOTHER menu especially good for these cold winter days includes waffles and maple syrup, angel food with glorified rice, and coffee or cocoa.

Glorified rice is easily made and may be glorified more or less according to will. For instance, a simple method is to add to cooled, sweetened rice which has been boiled in milk and flavored slightly with vanilla, a half can of drained crushed pineapple. For a dessert a little more elaborate, add to that a cup of quartered marshmallows. Now for a greater glorification add a half pint of whipped cream. If you like add some rubyettes or candied cherries or maraschino cherries. Garnish with pecan meats or with a toasted marshmallow. This dessert is best if made early and kept in the ice chest to chill thoroughly. It should be stirred occasionally during the day.

oooo look at the ostrich . . . trim on this green crin straw, tri-cornered, though not as bad as George Washington's cocked hat.

2 STRATAS OF WATER FOUND IN H. B. TESTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 26.—The American States Service corporation, operating the municipal water system at Huntington Beach, has reached a depth of 150 feet in the test well on the old Dieter nursery two miles west of the city limits. Two stratas of water have been found, one at a depth of 90 feet and the second at a depth of 150 feet.

It is expected the test well will be continued down to a depth of 350 to 600 feet. B. F. Page, of Costa Mesa, is sinking the well, using a portable rig.

The 90-foot strata of water is excellent water, clear, cold and pure, slightly hard, but excellent for drinking. The water strata found at 150 feet had just been drilled into Saturday. It is a coarse gravel, the production seems prolific, and the water is clear and very fine, sufficiently hard to make fine drinking water, but soft enough for laundry use.

The company has five acres under option and if chemical tests show proper quality and pump tests show ample quality, several wells probably will be drilled and the city mains hooked on to the new wells, and the present water source on the oil mesa abandoned.

Bean Warehouse Ends Season Soon

SMELTZER, Jan. 26.—The cleaning season at the Smeltzer Lima Bean Growers' association warehouse is nearing an end, the remaining portion of the uncleaned crop to be finished before the end of the month. It is estimated by Manager E. R. Bradbury.

The price of beans, which was highest at the commencement of the season, being at that time around nine cents per pound, is again up, having reached 6.70 following a drop to 6.10 some time ago.

It is estimated with present rate of shipments that the cleaned beans will practically all be out of the house by the closing day of the season. The best of beans are being reserved for seed.

SAFeway STORES

Leadership

For years the name Safeway has been synonymous with Foods in Los Angeles and Southern California. The fact that Safeway enjoys the reputation of selling good foods is attested by a steady increase of patronage over the years.

Organizations who operate a multiple-store system usually offer two distinct and essential services which are their chief bid for patronage. These services are a convenient store location and a definite saving in price.

Safeway operates three times as many stores in Southern California as any other organization—hence, are more accessible to the majority. Safeway savings to its customers, based on an annual sales volume, have for the past five years averaged more than $2,500,000 annually—a fact which has contributed largely to our success.

Today, Safeway is still leading the field—still far ahead, with facilities for a more economical operation—and still offering a convenience of location and price service not approached by anyone. In your own self-interest, will you take the time to make your own comparisons? Check our advertised prices. Then check our shelf prices. You will find them lower, and they will continue to be lower.

Among other things, this advertisement sounds like a challenge to competition—and lest there be misunderstandings, we will add that it is both a challenge to competition and a promise to you.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

By William Braucher

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Harry Lenny begs to mention that his Sad-Eyed Pole, Paul Swiderski, ought to be in the heavy-weight picture somewhere. . . he points out that Paul has substituted in bouts against three world's champions and knocked each of them out. . . the first was Pete Latzo; the second, Mickey Rosenbloom. . . Latzo, however, was allowed a claim of foul and after 20 seconds' rest came on and finished the bout. . . Walker, floored four times, was given a rest when his manager, Jack Kearns, plus seconds and police, staged a riot in the center of the ring. . . Rosenbloom was allowed to continue, too, after the referee gave him a rest in which to have a flowing wound over his eye patched up. . . the referee finally stopped the bout and gave it to Rosenbloom, declaring Swiderski slugged with the open glove, says Harry. . . which sounds like hard luck any way you figure it.

This is the time of year when John McGraw looks with an appraising eye over a couple of the big league rosters and starts sending telegrams, offering half a dozen small ball players for a couple of 1924 model tan buttoned shoes.

Oddly, even in the National league, which is the trading league you could think of, ivory deals of an important nature this year are about as scarce as cheer leaders in a mausoleum. Even Mr. McGraw seems to have abandoned the practice of lavishing Grade A ball players upon indigent club owners, a process that is said to have been patented by him several years ago.

BALL CRIES OUT

From St. Louis comes the shrill plaint of Phil Ball, who declares that the other American league owners are skeptics so suspicious of their fellow magnates in the matter of trades that the league is going to rack and ruin. Mr. Ball didn't say just exactly "to rack and ruin" but when he asserted that the American league was winning the world series while the National league was drawing all the customers he inferred that things were in a pretty bad way. Mr. Ball points to the tight races the National league has enjoyed, with a chance for everybody to win, while the American league pennant in the last eight or 10 years has been all sewed up before August. Nobody asked Mr. Ball if he meant to infer by the general tone of his remarks that a couple of the American league teams should send him a couple of 500 hitters, and if they had Mr. Ball surely would have replied in the negative, so that's that. But—

"I'LL SWAP YOU"

It does seem that the American league magnate has shown a decided tendency to let the other club owner go fish in a wash basin for his ball players, while every time a couple to the magnates of the older league meet casually on the street they pass the time of day and ask one another if there isn't some player he'd like to have for the asking.

Thus Mr. Hornsby, upon assuming control of the Cubs last fall, happened to run across Burt Shotton one day at a hotel lobby and Burt handed him Pitcher Lester Sweetland with his compliments.

A couple of days later Rogers met Dan Howley at an old-fashioned church bazaar and Dan wouldn't be satisfied until Rogers had consented to accept Jackie May. To what end, purpose does Hornsby expect to devote Sweetland and May next summer? The answer is easy. The Ralph expects to win some ball games from the Robins and the Giants. Pitcher Sweetland and May are the guys who can give McGraw's and Robble's men more trouble than bolts, charley-horses and lame arms.

Between them next year, May and Sweetland may not win more than six games, but if those victories are at the expense of the Dodgers and Giants, the deals will be justified.

Such things, however, do not happen in the American league.

Next Saturday's Schedule
Los Angeles at Long Beach; Glendale at Pasadena; Compton at Fullerton; Santa Ana, bye.

It doesn't seem to be in the cards for the Santa Ana junior college Dons to win a conference basketball game. After having dropped their first two league tilts by only four points, both in the last minutes of play, the Santa Anas lost another "last minute" affair to the Pasadena Bulldogs Saturday night in Andrews gymnasium, 37 to 31.

It was Santa Ana's ball game all the way with the exception of a few disastrous minutes toward the end of the last half. Up until that time Coach Bill Foote's players had outplayed the undefeated conference leaders completely, gaining a six-point advantage in the first few minutes and stretching it to a 19 to 12 margin at half-time.

Game Is Rough
The Bulldogs made things hot near the close of the game after both teams had engaged in a very rough battle through the third and fourth quarters.

Instead of a nine-point lead, the Dons were soon ahead only 21 to 18 but rallied temporarily to capture a 26 to 20 advantage. After that, Pasadena applied the pressure and hit the basket five times in rapid succession, mostly through the stellar work of Jones, giant negro center, who hit the ring from all angles. Both teams got a foul shot, making the score 31 to 27 but three more Pasadena hoops in the last two minutes was too much for the Footmen.

Captain Orville Schuchardt, who turned in one of his best games in a Don uniform, climaxed his evening's work with a beautiful shot from the center of the floor just before the gun but the Bulldogs were too far ahead.

Appleby, Schuchardt Shine
The big surprise of the evening was the playing of Max Appleby, who lasted actually the entire game at center. This letterman, who plays basketball with specially protected glasses, has seen little action this year but came through with flying colors, making eight points and starring on defense.

Captain Schuchardt tallied 10 digits for offensive honors while Wayne Garlock and Hal Dunham played an aggressive game on defense. Emmett Seacord, forward, made seven points in the first half and also showed up well.

The Dons take a rest from conference competition this week. Having previously lost to Long Beach, 23 to 19, and Compton 25 to 21, they are hopelessly out of the running for any league honors but still should make it hot for the other contenders.

Their next league game will be on February 7 at Glendale.

The lineup:
Santa Ana (31) (37) Pasadena
Seacord (7).....F.....(8) Smyth
Dunham (4).....C.....(10) McNeil
Appleby (10).....G.....(12) Jones
Schuchardt (20).....F.....(15) Salsian
Garlock (2).....G.....(9) Sherr

Substitutions
Santa Ana: Beatty for Dunham, Lindsey for Garlock, Lindsey (2) for Appleby, Appleby for Beatty, Johnson for Schuchardt, Schuchardt for Johnson.
Pasadena: Holney (7) for McNeil, Aselle (1) for Salsian.

SAVOLDI THINKS FAST, GETS AWAY FROM 300 'TACKLERS'

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi, "The People's Choice," was a fortunate survivor of a San Francisco welcome that subsided only through benefit of police reserves.

A moment after the whistle sounded the end of yesterday's Knights of Columbus football game, in which Savoldi had starred, an impromptu reception committee comprising some 300 youths of high school age ran onto the field to pump Savoldi's hand, smack his back

Maybe he had a little spring training of his own to do. Anyhow, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, pictured here as he arrived at Bellair, Fla., probably was the first representative of major league baseball to appear in the south.

BREAK CYPRESS WINNING SPORT IN RIDGE DUEL

All things must end eventually and eventually today had knocked on the Cypress door.

Steve Luther's great baseball club, winner of 17 games in succession, suffered its first setback since early fall yesterday when it dropped a 3-1 pitcher's duel to Jack Fullerton's Long Beach All-Stars at Cypress.

Long Beach got off in front, scoring twice on Lawrence Hemus in the first inning when E. McCormack walked and Carson blasted a home run.

Cypress got its run of the day in its half of the eye-opener on Leavitt Daley's single, Jewett's sacrifice and Vaughn's single.

Long Beach scored again in the third on two walks and two fielders' choices.

Vaughn contributed a fielding classic in the eighth inning when he went far back and jumped up on the fence to spear Carson's tremendous drive.

Cypress will play Artesia at Cypress next Sabbath.

GEORGE PARKER WINS ONE-CLUB GOLF TOURNEY

Employing a midiron with neatness and despatch, George A. Parker won the Santa Ana Country club's one-club golf tournament, played Saturday and Sunday. He registered the low score of 87-16-71, a card that many a golfer would be proud of after a day on the links with a full set of clubs.

Parker won the open competition while D. E. Liggett, 93-14-79, was credited with low net in the Class A group and E. W. (Bill) Cole, 99-24-75, and Judge Charles F. Patton, 95-20-75, tied for first in Class B.

One-club sweepstakes were conducted both Saturday and Sunday with the following results:

Saturday: G. A. Parker, 87-16-71; Harvey A. Gardner, 103-22-81; R. A. Mosher, 101-20-81; F. E. Farnsworth, 96-12-84.

Most of the one-club tournament competitors used midirons although a few tried putters.

Results of the regular week-end ball sweepstakes follow:

RACE PILOT KILLED IN ASCOT SMASHUP

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 26.—A crash of four racing cars at the Ascot speedway yesterday caused the death of George Young, 28, Milwaukee, Wis., and injury to three other drivers.

On the 29th lap of a 624-mile race, the car of Lester Spangler, Los Angeles, skidded at a turn.

Young's car struck Spangler's and he was thrown over an embankment, striking on his head. Cars driven by Arvel Brummer, Whittier, and "Curley" Grandell, Glendale, crashed into the pile-up. All three drivers were hurt.

BEAR HUNTING

By GEORGE BRIGGS

Santa Ana Sportsman and Big Game Hunter

Next day we moved camp to some wonderful trout lakes, also a great black bear country. Traveling all day above timberline, we crossed numerous snow glaciers on most all of which we saw caribou resting and getting away from the fliers. Then down a mountain trail, well into timber, where camp was made. From a knoll nearby we could see Iskut lakes, 3-1-2 miles away. These lakes are fed by a stream that eventually finds its crooked and tortuous way out and into another chain of lakes, all gravel bottomed, as far as we could judge, and clear, sweet water.

The trout we caught ran uniformly from 12 to 15 inches and were of the rainbow variety. I supplied the tackle and Harrington took over order for fish as he went down to try out the lakes while John and I were hunting grizzlies above timberline. The fish order ran about like this: John, 6 Harrington 3 and one for me. He brought back our order and then some, out of which I managed to account for about half of one trout. With good mountain sheep meat in camp, no fish for me.

See Bear, Moose

From this camp and our lookout knoll, we saw black bear and bull moose every day but the weather was warm down in the timber and the bugs and mosquitoes were bad so we often climbed the mountain and took a look for grizzlies. We saw but little fresh sign and that of small or medium sized bear.

To go back: We got into this place and made camp about 3 p. m. and next morning when John was out after the horses, he came hurrying back with the information he had seen a bear, so out we started on a long detour to get the wind right and also an elevation from which we could look down on the section where the bear had been seen. I don't believe the bear was over a half-mile from camp but we must have gone 3-1-2 or 4 miles. Then leaving the horses, we went afoot for some little distance until we came to a semi-nude hill of small proportion and from where we commanded a view of the lower timber.

Stretches of parks and side hills were everywhere and in and on these berries grew in profusion. On these berries the bear was feeding. Down we sat, each with a binocular, and began to look over likely places. Soon, some 400 yards below and to our left John saw two 3-4 grown bears, one brown, the other black, feeding together.

Interesting Panorama
We moved about to get a different view but always came back to the same place. The placid trout lakes below, heavy timber and there, interspersed with small parks, lakes and bogs, snow-capped high hills and mountains in the near distance, some white goats less than a mile away and a bull moose, not yet out of velvet, down by a little bog, made this an interesting panorama to pass before a hunter's eyes.

A wild untamed place and I was drinking it all in when a touch on the arm and a nod of the head showed me the bear John had been looking for, just coming to an open space on the steep hillside some 90 or 100 yards away. Broadside and a Returning in a happy frame of mind from San Diego where his protegee, Joe Gooders, had scored a convincing knockout victory over Barney Shaw, Roger L. Shipley, Santa Ana boxing manager, found tragedy awaiting him in his own house Saturday afternoon.

All doors and windows were locked and Shipley had to force an entrance. Then he found dead his wife, Virginia Shipley, 58, apparently as a result of a heart attack.

They lived at 1063 West Fifth street.

Mrs. Shipley is survived by her husband, a son, Henry B. Ortope, of Orange; her father, three sisters and a brother.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday at 10 a. m. from Winbigler's Funeral home, 609 North Main street, with the Rev. J. K. Soper, pastor of Full Gospel assembly, officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

FRIDAY'S GAME HERE LAST FOR 6 SAINT STARS

Six Santa Ana high school athletic heroes, including several of the best football players in recent years, will ring down the curtain on their deep sport careers Friday night when the Saints tangle with the high powered San Diego basketball team in Andrews gymnasium.

Because the first semester ends Friday, Al Rehohn, Hideo Higashi, Maxon Stull, Harold Pangle, "Gib" Meisinger and Eldon Bragg will be ineligible to play any more for Santa Ana. Rehohn, destined to be a Salsbury immortal with three years on the All-Coast league grid team; Higashi, All-Coast league end, and Pangle, burly full and halfback, were the spark-plugs of Coach "Tex" Oliver's grid outfit last fall. Meisinger played end two years and Stull the same position in 1929.

With Rehohn, Higashi and Stull leaving three big holes in Coach Bill Cook's varsity casaba lineup, the Saints will be hard up for the rest of the season. Cook was just beginning to get his squad of football players acquainted with the hoop game, having lost his first three conference games in the experiment.

The revamped lineup after the San Diego game probably will find "Red" Kidder and Jim Lash at forwards, Paul Jacques at center and Lawrence Lutz and Joe Prelinger at guards. Kidder and Lutz are both regulars now while Prelinger has been seeing lots of service. Both Jacques and Lash were reserves last year and are fairly adept at the basketball business.

Cook has another good prospect in Jack Monan, a sophomore transfer from Chaffey. This sharpshooting forward has been handicapped by an eye ailment but is starting in practice and may break into the line.

Two practice games next week and should also see action. The practice games have been slated for this week by Coach Cook. He was to take his Saints to Anaheim high school this afternoon. Bonita high school's cagers will visit Andrews gymnasium tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The San Diego game Friday night will start at 8:30 p. m., with a Class B preliminary.

INGRAM TO CONDUCT COURSE IN COACHING

BERKELEY, Jan. 26.—W. A. (Bill) Ingram, newly appointed head football coach at the University of California, will conduct a course on "Coaching American Football" during the last three weeks of the 1931 summer session at Berkeley, the summer sessions office announced today.

The course is planned for football coaches and physical education instructors, and will include actual demonstrations of coaching technique on the field. Ingram will also give instruction in "Football and Basketball Officiating" during the same three-weeks' period.

California Gets Long Beach Star

BERKELEY, Jan. 26.—Good news for University of California football coaches: Russell ("Musty") Olson, former Long Beach Poly star, has registered for the spring semester at the Golden Bear institution, and will turn out for next fall's freshman team. Olson, 155-pound halfback, led the Long Beach eleven to a Southern California championship in 1929, chiefly by his bullet-like, accurate passes.

STUDENTS BOSS STADIUM
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 26.—The new $750,000 Notre Dame stadium is entirely under the direction of the Student Managers' association.

SANTA ANA BOXING MANAGER FINDS WIFE DEAD IN HOME

As the liner Paris, New York, bound, steamed past Miss Liberty in New York harbor, dainty Mary Lee, tiny terpsichorean, asked for a stepladder so she could view the metropolitan skyline. There was no ladder handy, so Signor Primo Carnera, mammoth Italian boxer, volunteered his services.

Pair Manker, Johnson For Golf Finals

B. R. Manker and Bert Johnson will struggle for the Willowick Golf club championship next Saturday, playing either an 18 or 36-hole final to a handicap tournament that has been conducted with great success during the past month.

Manker reached the finals Saturday by decisively defeating one of the heavy favorites, Frank ("Red") Angell, 5 and 3.

Johnson had a tougher match to reach the final bracket but finally eliminated E. C. Campbell, one up, on the twentieth green.

Other tournament results:

Second flight: W. H. Arnett won from Don Jerome, one up; E. M. Lemke defeated Dick Ewert, 2 and 1. Arnett and Lemke meet in the finals.

Third flight: Paul Dodier defeated E. H. Guthrie, one up; Barney Snee won from E. Christensen, one up. Dodier and Snee will play the finals.

Savoldi's Eleven Wins Charity Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 26.—Largely through the efforts of Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame star, a team headed by that sterling performer defeated an aggregation of former St. Mary's players by a score of 12 to 9 here yesterday in the Knights of Columbus charity football game.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

ORANGE PASTOR TEACHES CLASS AT OCCIDENTAL

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, finds time to teach classes each week in Occidental college, the college from which he was graduated after finishing the Anahem union high school.

A Canadian by birth, Dr. McAulay is an American by adoption and has lived nearly all of his life in the state of California. Dr. McAulay spent his childhood in Orange county and attended both grammar school and high school in the city of Anaheim.

After graduating from the Anaheim union high school, Dr. McAulay attended Occidental college at Eagle Rock and after graduating from that institution, attended the San Francisco Theological seminary, also doing post graduate work at the latter college. Recently Dr. McAulay received the degree of doctor of divinity.

Dr. McAulay's first work in the ministry was missionary work in Alberta, Can., in an open country. He was assistant pastor for two years at Presbyterian church at Napa and served as pastor at the Freemont Presbyterian church at Sacramento for a period of nine years, going to that city in 1920 and remaining until he was called to the First Presbyterian church here in 1923.

Dr. McAulay married Miss Flora Crowley in Sacramento and his wife was at the head of the mathematics department of the Sacramento high school. They have one son, Robert Burns McAulay Jr.

While Dr. McAulay has no definite hobby, he is fond of playing golf, swimming and playing tennis.

'SET OF SOUL' SUNDAY TOPIC OF DR. TIPPLE

VILLA PARK, Jan. 26.—Dr. W. M. Tipple, pastor of the Villa Park Congregational church, spoke on "The Set of the Soul" at the services Sunday morning. He said in part:

Religious Hunger

"Is there any such thing as the set of the soul? There is a religious hunger. There are those who contend there is no such thing as a religious hunger. The psalmist wrote: 'As the hart panteth after the water brook, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God.' Ps. 42:1. Some say that there is not a religious hunger in the breast of every man, that it is only superstition and inertia that drives them on. That through the ages we have been taught of a supreme being or beings, whom we must please, or suffer the consequences. That these dogmas are all absolutely false, and that there is no future to be afraid of. That we only react subconsciously as if all these things were true; we follow along through simple inertia, because it is the easiest way for us to go, and we are carried along down the stream because others have gone the same way.

"I hardly think any of those here this morning have come to that particular point of view. Only those who do not take the time and trouble to come to church, are the ones who try to make us believe that. Why did you come this morning? Perhaps it was a life long habit. Perhaps there are others who came because they knew that it was the thing to do. Perhaps you had a struggle to come. Sometimes to some, it seems much easier to sit at home and listen to the sermons and music that come in over the radio, wonderful things, sometimes. But sometimes it is a struggle to come to church, but I am sure that the reason you have come it wasn't because of inertia, or a superstitious fear that something dreadful might happen to you if you didn't.

Negative Truth

"Infidels, rationalists, agnostics and atheists all have the same urge that Christians have; they are forced to do things they condemn in others. Have you ever seen an agnostic, standing on a street corner, on a soap box, preaching with fervor and zeal, and perhaps find some one else, on a soap box, right around the next corner, but preaching righteousness? The infidels and agnostics, organize societies, and hold meetings to carry on their propaganda. Why do they do these things? Because they can't help it; there is an urge, the set of the soul, that will not let them do otherwise. Not knowing the positive truth, they preach the negative.

"The whole question is, what will make the people happy? The Christian shares his faith in God with others. We hear about Russia. Poor Russia. You remember how they gloried in the government and their religion; how they took down the bells from the towers of their churches; they did away with the old, and with all thought of religion, as every man and woman needs a religion. Now they have a new kind of religious movement in Russia, in the city of Moscow. The Church of the Future, it is called. The service lasts not one hour, but many hours of the morning.

Discuss Religion

"The building is not heated, there are no seats, pews or benches, and as they try to drink in that which will satisfy the hunger of their souls, they must stand so that their souls might be fed. Some one has said that there is more religious thinking in Russia, than in any other part of the world. It is said the building is crowded and that all discussions turn to religion.

"Many books are being written on many religious subjects; the church is trying her best to hold the attention of men. At the same time, much literature is being written and bought and read, for there is a hunger and thirst after religion. Walter Lippman's book, 'A Preface to Morals,' is a good book to read. He classifies into three groups those who have broken away from the old religious thought, and have not as yet found the desire of their souls."

MAKE USE OF TALENT. PASTOR SAYS IN TALK

EL MODENA, Jan. 26.—The Rev. Joseph Reece, pastor of the Friends church in El Modena, spoke Sunday on the fourth chapter of Corinthians. His address in part follows:

"The first thing to which I want to call your attention is this, 'Moreover, it is required of stewards, that a man be found faithful.' The second thing I wish to talk about is 'A Black Sin,' and the third thing is, 'What are you going to do with what you have?'

We Are Stewards

"We are often concerned with the problem of what we could do with the money someone else has; with the voice someone else has, and of what great things we would do, if we had the money Rockefeller has. If we can't do very much with what we have, what will be do? If we have only two cents, let us make the best use of it that we can. And if we can only sing eight notes, let us do the very best we can with those eight notes. When we speak of a steward, we think of someone who has charge of someone else's property, and it is to be expected that he be found just, honest, faithful.

"You and I have many things that we did not do much about getting. For who maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst received it? In the last analysis, everything we possess, someone else has given us. Some people talk on the assumption that all they possess is their own, that in some way they have been able to create or make it. But Paul tells us we are stewards, and that we must be faithful.

Our Assets

"Now, what are some of our assets? Some of them we can handle, and some we can't see. Some of us have an ability to organize; some have ability to take a condition which is chaos, and bring all things into the most beautiful order, for they have a talent for doing that thing. Then there are others, who will take a condition of order, and very soon bring it to a chaotic condition. Some have the ability to make friends—they find their way into the hearts of people, and there are others who have not that ability and they are always in hot water. "Some have an ability for mathematics, and some have not. Some have ability in different degrees, so that we say of them, this man is a genius, and another has just a moderate amount of ability, and the third man has no ability at all along a certain line. Every one has talent and ability, but the thing which concerns me is, what are you going to do with what you have? We each have at least a few dollars, and we have some property, we have friends, and in our homes, we have children; these are all assets, and what are we going to do with these things which we have?

Best We Can

"I find people who are finding fault with certain lines of study. They are expected to take up certain studies, but they say, I do not have any ability, or any desire along this line. They try to attain success without doing the necessary labor to gain it. I was talking the other day with a young man who has thought he wanted to preach. He said, 'when I go and hear these good preachers I find I can't preach like they do; whenever I try, I make such a miserable failure. I asked him if he did not feel that God had called him to preach, and he said yes, and he told me the circumstances of his calling, and I felt sure he had been called to preach. So I asked him, who are you going to give an account to? You are judging your success; it is not what other people think of you, but what would God have you do. Some refuse to go and do the thing God has called them to do because they can't do it as well as they think they should. They say, someone else can do better. God is going to call every one of us to judgment—we are not called to please people; if our ability is small let us do the very best we can with it."

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Undigested food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows scaly and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, barks and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a poor upset stomach. Just a teaspoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disgusting eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

TRUE FRIENDS DISCUSSED BY ORANGE PASTOR

ORANGE, Jan. 26.—"Related to Christ" was the subject of the sermon given Sunday morning by the Rev. Franklin H. Minck at the First Christian church. The sermon was by the choir was "Changing Years" by Lorenz, and Miss Melva Fletcher sang a solo.

The Rev. Mr. Minck said in part: "Whoever shall do the will of God the same is my brother, my sister and mother. Christ faced not only the entrenched paganism of ages but the animosity of his friends. His friends fell into the attitude of believing the worst because it was the easiest way. Their friendship was not lasting. True friends believe the best of their friends. Are we friends of Christ? or are we afraid of being called fanatics? Are we zealous with the knowledge of the Word of God? We need to sacrifice ourselves for our friends. Wesley's sacrifice in the 18th century gave us the reformation.

"Whoever will do the will of my Father, the same is my brother, my sister and mother. A disinterested friend of Christ's will allow little things to break down the cause of Christ. We need close fellowship with Christ then we are related to Christ as closely as to a brother, or sister, or mother."

"I Will Do What I Can" was the subject of the evening sermon.

The choir sang "Walking With God," by Steinel, and Mrs. Leon Des Larzes sang "The Publican," by Van de Water. The Rev. Mr. Minck said in part: "Silver and gold have I none but such as I have give I thee: in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk." Peter lived in the affirmative state of mind; he gave the beggar what he had to give. Are you doing the things you can do or are you naming all the things that you cannot do? Use the talent that you have for the Lord. It is a gift from God. Go from the negative to the positive side. Seize the opportunity before you with an open hand that others may see beyond you the power of God. The power of Christ must work through us. Being a Christian means we will be witnessing to others. We will be positive, not negative, showing all men that we love Him."

"I Am Gratified to See You Openly Using the Word 'Spit'"

Says

DR. JAMES A. DUMAS

Commissioner of Public Health, Lynn, Mass.

July 8, 1930.

American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

Gentlemen:

Spit is one of the words which we have learned to avoid in polite parlance. But in our distaste for the use of an unpleasant word, there is a likelihood of minimizing the dangers of contamination which this word connotes.

I am, therefore, gratified to see you openly using the word spit in your advertising of cigars.

The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance. You may, of course, publish this letter if it will help.

Yours very truly,

James A. Dumas, M.D.
Commissioner of Public Health

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Dumas' letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Dumas writes: "The ever-present possibility of infection from heedless spitting habits is most vital in any consideration of health maintenance."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it...Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

RELIGION AS AID TO PEACE IS STRESSED

Dr. Richard R. Lyman, of Salt Lake City, member of the council of twelve of the Mormon church, delivered an interesting discourse last evening at the Latter Day Saints chapel. He said in part: "Just before the death of Luther Burbank he was quoted as saying that he had no belief in a life beyond the grave. I happened to be in Portland at that time. The 'Oregonian' published an account on his statement. This paper said: 'Whether there is life beyond the grave or not we need to observe the human family but little in order to learn and see that those who live as if there is life beyond the grave are better citizens, better neighbors, better fathers, mothers and people than those who live otherwise.' "So I say, encourage the teaching of religion. Let us do our utmost to awaken in the hearts of the people a faith, a belief. Let us get them to live so that they may know and may have that satisfaction that there is a life beyond the grave. "If you want a blessing, if you want your home to be one of peace, happiness, success, if you want to have influence with your children—be religious—have a religious spirit, read this Holy book, be familiar with it. Have the family study the life and labors of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, the one perfect character who has been upon the earth. You will be richly rewarded in the splendid work and fine lives of your sons and daughters. "Go upon your knees as you are told in this Holy book to do—acknowledge your shortcomings before your Father and ask for them to be forgiven. Ask for strength from day to day and appeal to Him for help and come to this place to worship and partake of the Sacrament. "No human tongue can speak, no man can deliver a sermon equal in value to the partaking of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, in memory of the blood and body of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. That partaken of worthily, will give you greater reward and greater blessings than any other source. "No education in the world is equal to an education in religion. It is worth more than all other training in science, literature and mathematics together. The thing that gives to the human soul the greatest joy is religion." In speaking of the missionary system of the church, Dr. Lyman said, "The spirit of the church is remarkable. The testimony that comes into the souls of men is tremendously effective. Imagine a people, so few in numbers, maintaining continuously an army of 2000 missionaries preaching the gospel in nearly every part of the world, giving their time and paying their own expenses." Dr. Lyman was a member of the Engineering Board of Review who, with Thaddeus Merriman of New York and A. J. Wiley of Boise, Idaho, made a selection of the route that is to be used in bringing water from the Colorado river to Southern California cities. He spoke in no uncertain terms of praise for the courage and initiative and foresight of the people of Southern California in attempting this colossal undertaking and mammoth engineering feat.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Truth" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, Sunday, in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. Among the Scripture selections were these verses from the First Book of Kings: "And it came to pass after these things, that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick; and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath left in him." And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me to call my sin to remembrance, and to slay my son? And he said unto her, Give me thy son. . . . And the Lord heard the voice of Elijah; and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived. . . . And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the Lord in thy mouth is truth. The Lesson-Sermon closed with the following correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "As light destroys darkness, and in the place of darkness all is light, so (in absolute Science) soul, or God, is the only truth-giver to man. Truth destroys mortality, and brings to light immortality."

EFFICACY OF PRAYER TOLD BY MINISTER

The efficacy of prayer in developing and overcoming difficulties was stressed in the sermon of the Rev. Paul Andres, pastor of the Christian Spiritual Science church, last evening when he chose for his subject, "In the Silence at Prayer." The text was from Luke 6:12. He said in part: "One evening, the Master called to Him Peter, James and John, and asked them to go with Him to the mountain for prayer. Amid the lengthening shadows the little party set out. Probably there was a moon and a clear sky and the climbing path would have been too dark for safety. Presently the trees became scantier and the moonlight fuller, and the travellers reached a rocky plateau high up on the mountain. Above them they caught a glimpse of the snow-helmet of Hermon. "The lights in the distant Caesars were dropping out. And farther still in the dark night, He could picture Nazareth lying. His boyhood home. "It was now the hour of sleep, and no unusual thing for the Lord and His Apostles to take their rest upon the ground in the open air. But He had come to be in the silence, if by the Father's loving kindness, He might confirm His own trembling purpose of suffering, and lift the incubus of disappointment from the hearts of His friends. So He knelt and for a while the three disciples knelt with Him, until weary and heavy with sleep they wrapped their outer cloaks about them and lay down in sweet forgetfulness. Hour after hour, while they slept Jesus was wrapped in silent prayer. "Jesus appears to have devoted Himself specially to prayer at times when His life was unusually full of work and excitement. A wise man once said that he was too busy to be in a hurry; he meant that, if he allowed himself to become hurried, he could not do all that he had to do. There is nothing like silence for producing calm self-possession. When the dust of business so fills your room that it threatens to choke you, sprinkle it with the waters of prayer, and then you can cleanse it out with comfort and expedition. "It should be remembered, that human personality is not a ready-made thing, but it has to grow by moral exercise, and chiefly in the Kingdom of God, by prayer. The living soul has to grow into moral personality. Remember that the science of sciences to you is to be a new creature. And every day, and in every place, work at the new creation which you yourself are. Working with all your might at your proper and peculiar calling—work out your own salvation in every part of every day."

SERIOUSNESS OF BETROTHAL POINTED OUT

The importance of the betrothal period was stressed last night at the First Baptist church by the Rev. Harry E. Owings, pastor, who preached on the subject "Betrothal to Marriage Altar" as one of a series of "Home and Fireside" sermons at the evening services of the church. "Betrothal is always to be regarded as very, very sacred and is to be entered into only after most serious consideration of what is involved," the pastor declared. "People should become engaged only when they are reasonably sure that that engagement is to eventuate in marriage, just as the first streak of dawn indicates that soon the morning sun will arise. There are some people that take this matter very lightly but affections are most sacred things and are not to be toyed or trifled with. "At the same time betrothal is a real testing time for a youth and a maid—a testing of their professed love. Are the good impressions strengthened or do disillusionments occur as the result of the close companionship of the 'courtship days'? The length of the betrothal can be determined by no other measurement than this—that love stands well this scrutiny. It is to be borne in mind that separations occur with far less seriousness at this time than after the marriage. Furthermore, later possible tragedy is averted in this period if both parties to the prospective wedding made love the dominant motive for their union, and if each makes his own choice, not influenced by friends or relatives. "Thus when two young people stand before the marriage altar they should be as sure as anyone can be sure of a venture into the future that this is to be a union of mind and soul as well as a physical union that guarantees success and happiness. They should be resolved that God has indeed joined them together and that they will love and cherish until death do them part. In it all God is to be recognized and His guidance and sanction sought in this momentous matter. This is to be a religious act, with God acknowledged in this as in all our ways, with both the man and the woman guided by His eye. Lives thus looking to the Heavenly One should have most beautiful betrothal and most happy marriage."

The Y. M. C. A. Forum on Tuesday night will be addressed by Miss Emily Wooley, of Los Angeles, who is to lead the discussion on the problem of charity and relief. The Forum meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30, at the Y. M. C. A.

School District Division To Be Argued Thursday

The matter of creating a new elementary school district in Orange county by dividing the Serra district so that a separate district may be made for San Clemente will be argued before the state board of control at Sacramento next Thursday morning. It was learned today. The appeal to the state board was brought by the board of supervisors after State Superintendent of Public Instruction Vieri Kersey had disallowed the request for the formation of the new district on the ground that it was the policy of the state department of education to foster consolidations and make larger districts rather than break districts up into smaller units.

TEMPTATION OF JESUS LESSON TOPIC FOR MEN

"The Temptation of Jesus" was the subject of the lesson which was discussed for members of the Men's Community Bible class at the Fox West Coast theater yesterday morning by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, class teacher and pastor of the First Christian church. In a preface to the lesson the teacher asserted that there has been more progress in civilization in the last 20 years than in the 4000 years before the time of Christ, and prophesied that there would be even more wonderful things develop in the next few years. "God has more power and happiness for us than we are able to obtain because we let other things come between us and God, such as the petty worries of the day," he said. "The temptation of Jesus followed His baptism. These things usually are found close together. The devil is still at work; the same as in the Garden of Eden and when he tempted Christ. He injects sin, sorrow and suffering in life. You can get happiness and consolation from Jesus. "Men in Washington are messing up the affairs of state because the devil is on the job, working with all his power to keep the world from Christ. He works on men's passions for liquor and their passions. Authority goes to the heads of some men like strong drink. We need God's help to control authority and let it function properly. "Jesus resisted all temptation and is worthy of being our Savior. He'll bring happiness, truth and victory. Put your trust in Him." Special music yesterday was furnished by Hurl and Gilbert, banjo duo, whose selections were greatly appreciated by the class.

SELECTION OF LIFE WORK IS SERMON THEME

Taking as his text the sixth verse of the ninth chapter of the Book of Acts, "What wilt thou have me to do? . . . It shall be told thee what thou must do," the Rev. O. Scott McFarland preached yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church on the theme, "What Shall I Do with My Life?" "This is the most important question that every boy or young man ever asks," the minister said, "and yet but little help is given him in making that life decision. If you were to invest a million dollars, you would investigate, counsel with wise men, make every move with great forethought. Your life is worth more than a million. You have but one life to invest. Remember the old proverb, 'Measure your cloth tentatively, for you can only cut it once.' "I would call your attention to three guiding principles, which, grounded in religious faith, will save you from drifting into blind alleys and will make sure that in your life-work you will be God-propelled. "1. We are not our own. Life is a trust. Young man, you belong to God. Your fundamental decision should be: 'I will live my life under God for others rather than for myself, for the advancement of the Kingdom of God rather than my personal success. I will not drift into my life work, but I will do my utmost by prayer, investigation, meditation and service to discover that form and place of life work in which I can become of the largest use to the Kingdom of God. As I find it, I will follow it under the leadership of Jesus Christ, whosoever it take me, cost what it may.' The person who makes such a fundamental decision declares to the world that his life is not for sale. "2. God has a plan for each life. He has endowed and equipped us to fit in to His wise design and purpose. It is utterly folly for us to think that we can all fill the large places. They say that there is plenty of room at the top. But that is not so. There is room at the top for only one or two. But there is plenty of room at the bottom and the best that most of us can hope for ourselves is the laying of foundations upon which others may build. God called Moses to be the commander-in-chief of an army of deliverance. It is just as true that He called Bezaleel to cut the stone that went into the structure of the temple. The Master Architect of men's lives expects each one of us to choose that life work which will enable him to give expression to the inner qualities of his own being and with that expression to make impression in service and helpfulness upon his fellows. "3. There is so much that needs to be done that each one must decide to do the biggest thing of which he is capable. It is not enough to do some good. One must do his utmost. 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.' "If you can't be a highway, then just be a trail; If you can't be a sun, be a star; It isn't by size that you win or you fail; Be the best of whatever you are!"

'FENCE RIDERS' SERMON TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Taking for his subject "Fence Riders," Evangelist Read W. Stearns, who is holding meetings at the Full Gospel Assembly, Third and Forest streets, spoke yesterday concerning persons who hesitated to take sides on great questions and issues. The message was based on the text in First Kings, 18:21, "And Elijah came unto all the people and said, How long halt ye between two opinions?" "Elijah, who was a true follower of God and a prophet made this challenge to idol worshippers in the time when the people of Israel had fallen from the truth under their wicked king, Ahab," the evangelist told his audience. "Elijah represents the true believer in Jesus Christ of today and the idolaters represent those who are professing to be Christians and are serving the world, the flesh and the devil at the same time. "You must be for God or against Him. There is no middle ground—no man can serve two masters. One cannot be in love with worldly amusements and desires and love God at the same time." During the week the evangelist plans to have several very interesting services, with special nights for young people, families and grandparents.

Fulla Fun Club Has Valentine Dinner

That approaching date when St. Valentine holds sway, provided incentive for a lovely party of Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tournet were hosts to Fulla Fun club members, entertaining at Ketter's.

One long table provided the setting for the appetizing dinner served at an early hour. A bouquet of carnations in tones of scarlet was the central figure, and in harmony with the brilliant coloring were the tall candles tied with bows of fluffy tulle, and resting in gold candlesticks. From these were strewn red hearts lying in interest with favors bearing Valentine fragments which guests re-assembled in order to find their partners.

In the bridge games of the evening, Mrs. Homer Neer and Noble Watson held high scores while Mrs. Watson and Wilbur W. Gill were consoling.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Tournet were Messrs. and Mesdames Homer Neer, Earl Neer, Noble Watson, Ben Daniker, Earl Lepper, Harry Drown, William Stanford, Lewis Bittle, Frank King, Wilbur W. Gill, and Russell Cook.

Telephone Message Tells Betrothal News

One of the most attractively appointed parties of the past week had its incentive, the announcement of Miss Veda Mitchell's betrothal and spring-time wedding to Howard Frazee of this city, and was presented Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Charles F. Mitchell and Miss Mitchell entertaining in their home, 448 South Sycamore street.

The charm of the home was increased by the lavish use of flowers with tones of pink predominating. Many of these came from friends of the hostesses, including Mrs. Charles Riggs and Mrs. Charles E. Moore. A unique note was the introduction of the telephone as the modern means of communication, a motif that was established by the clever invitations issued to the party. For each card bore the picture of a pretty maid using the phone, and the wording of the message was a simulation of a telephoned invitation to an afternoon of bridge.

In greeting their guests, Mrs. Mitchell wore a graceful afternoon gown of turquoise blue chiffon with a corsage bouquet of gardenias. Miss Veda Mitchell chose a charming black gown and her corsage sent by Mr. Frazee, was of snowy gardenias. Assembling them was Miss Ellen Jeannette Frazee, dressed in soft blue and wearing pink velvet pants.

In the bridge contest, Mrs. DeRoy Dickson scored high and was rewarded with a colorful cracker jar in Czechoslovakian ware, while a jar in different design was presented to Miss Beulah Dugden, scoring second high, and Miss Martha Adams was consoling with a guest-room darning set in French bouquet form.

At the tea hour, tables were made charming with embroidered linen and slender bud vases of roses touched with blue, each holding one perfect pink rosebud. Favors were small glass telephones filled with wee candies, and with an envelope attached to each, bearing the instructions, "Do not open until the telephone bell rings."

Promptly at 4:30, Mr. Frazee telephoned his fiancée, and straightway the eager young people opened the envelopes to learn the betrothal news, and that the date of April 11 had been selected for the wedding. Miss Mitchell showed her lovely engagement ring, and it attracted more interest even than the delectable pink iced cake or the strawberry ice cream with its white wedding bells which were served on graceful amber and pink crystal.

Guests present at the enjoyable event included Mrs. Walter Meriwether, Mrs. Melvin Rosebaum, Mrs. DeRoy Dickson, Miss Lois Winslow, Miss Betty Hoy, Miss Helen Westering, Miss Ruth DuBois, Miss Marian Smith, Miss Beulah Dugden, and Miss Ellen Jeannette Frazee, Santa Ana; the Misses Martha and Kathryn Adams, Anaheim; Mrs. Russell Wilson, Tustin; Mrs. Norol Evans, Orange; Mrs. Donald Nash (Lorene Porter), Hanford, and Mrs. Russell Tibbett, Southgate.

Miss Mitchell was graduated from Santa Ana high school, continuing her studies at Oregon State college. Her fiancé, Mr. Frazee is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin M. Frazee, 641 North Birch street, and is in the Seal Beach office of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company.

Miss Eleanor Mitchell, younger sister of the honoree, was prevented from being present at the announcement party, as she was a patient in St. Joseph's hospital, having recently undergone an operation for appendicitis.

Five Hundred Club Has Meeting

Entertaining Friday evening in their home at 1530 West Sixth street, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bain were hosts to members of their 500 club. Bright-hued poinsettias were used to decorate the rooms. In the card games of the evening Mrs. Ray Dietrich and George Mull scored high while Mrs. J. Fred Rye and Charles Pique were consoling. At a late hour Mrs. Bain served a delectable fruit salad with sandwiches and coffee.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Bain were Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Rhinehart, Charles Pique, Ray Dietrich, J. Fred Rye, and George Mull.

Young People Are Made Guests of Honor in Their Own Home

Responding Saturday night to a ring of her doorbell, Mrs. Lloyd Smith received a decided surprise, which was shared by Mr. Smith, when it was discovered that there was quite a little group of guests waiting for admittance to the pretty home which the young people established as recently at 927 North Olive street.

The guests were members of Mrs. Smith's immediate family, and were decidedly on pleasure bound, with all plans arranged for a lively evening of bridge at which Mr. and Mrs. Smith, so recently wedded, enjoyed the unique experience of being honor guests in their own home. At the close of the contest, the "prize" was awarded to the hosts, who found themselves generously showered with a variety of groceries and provisions for the winter.

Mrs. Smith was Miss Elizabeth Gilmour, and the wedding was an event of Friday evening, January 16. After the gifts had been examined and admired, tables were arranged for serving refreshments, thoughtfully provided by the conspirators, who included Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Gilmour, Mrs. D. E. Peters, Miss Lillian Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Peters of Los Angeles; Mrs. Hazel Frye, Miss Betty Frye and Gilbert Robertson.

Mrs. Bridenstine Is Hostess at Dinner Party

It was in celebration of her birthday anniversary that Mrs. Ella Bridenstine entertained with a lovely dinner yesterday afternoon in her home at 818 Halladay street. Guests were relatives from Southern California cities.

For the memorable occasion the home was decked with sweet peas and poinsettias. A feature of the appetizing menu was a birthday cake, baked by Mrs. E. E. Bridenstine of Corona.

Some of those present were week-end guests in the Bridenstine home, and included the hostess's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hunt and daughters, Bernice, Eleanor and Eloise of Glendale; and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hamilton and son, Niel, of Monterey Park. Mrs. Bridenstine's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bridenstine and children Louella-Beth, John William, Barbara and Dickie, of Corona, were guests for the day.

Indiana Visitors Are Guests at Dinner

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. John Sindlinger of South Bend, Ind., who are visiting in Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vernon were hosts yesterday at a lovely dinner party, entertaining in their home at 2820 Santiago avenue. A delicate rose motif was carried out during the menu hour, and was evidenced in the crystal bowl of sweet peas which centered the table. Nut cups, too, were in the rose tints.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hupp of Long Beach were formerly of South Bend and had much to discuss with the honor guests.

Those present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Vernon and little daughter, Betty Louise, were Mr. and Mrs. Sindlinger, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sholly and Mrs. Elizabeth Good of Altadena, and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hupp of Long Beach.

Joint Birthday Observance Is Surprise

Mrs. Rosa Bauer and Mrs. Peter Vlahos shared honors recently when their birthdays were observed at an evening party held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wright at 302 West Second street. Mrs. Bauer planned the affair and when Mrs. Vlahos accepted the invitation she little suspected that she was to be an honoree with Mrs. Bauer.

Games and contests were enjoyed during the early part of the evening and the climax came when the two honorees were presented with an array of lovely birthday gifts. Refreshments were served on individual trays, with the two young daughters of the home, Pauline and Norma June Wright, assisting their mother in her pleasant duties. Special features of this hour were two decorated cakes on which were written the names of Mrs. Vlahos and Mrs. Bauer. One of these was the gift of Mrs. James Ryan.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Lundak, Mr. and Mrs. James Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vlahos, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. William Summers, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright, Mrs. George Edmundson, Mrs. Lida Philp, Mrs. Annie Arnold, Miss Sally Carroll, Mrs. Grace Moranville, Mrs. Minnie Tucker, Walter Norton, J. T. Cook, Stanley Wright, Mrs. Bauer and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wright.

RARE COFFEE WINS COUNTLESS NEW USERS BY FLAVOR

Amazing Popularity of Hills Bros. Coffee Tribute to Roasting Process

Years of experiment by Hills Bros. have resulted in the origination and perfection of the only Controlled Roasting process in use today.

By Hills Bros.' patented process, the degree of roast is positively controlled. The quantity of coffee passing into the roaster—about three pounds at a time—does not vary. The speed of the flow and the temperature remain the same, with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform. This roasting method is to a large degree responsible for the frequent question, "Why is Hills Bros. Coffee always the same?"

Comparisons show that Hills Bros. Coffee has a flavor no other coffee has. The ordinary method of roasting in bulk cannot insure a uniform roast because there is a lack of control.

The vacuum can, in which Hills Bros. Coffee is packed, keeps the coffee fresh. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely removed from the can and kept out. Coffee does not stay fresh in ordinary cans, even if air-tight. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trademark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Sausage With Turkey
On a recent visit to Canada I noticed that my hostess had a lot of link sausage piled beside the turkey she was dressing, so I just pinned back my ears and prepared to look and listen. The turkey was stuffed, rubbed with soft butter, salt and pepper, dredged with flour and browned on both sides in a hot oven. Then the roasting pan was taken from the oven and the sausages were pinned to the bird with toothpicks, as closely as they could be set, covering the breast and legs completely.

The bird was put back into the oven with the heat reduced and baking went on, with the sausages acting as a basting agent. The sausages were turned once and were served with the turkey as a garnish, and let me tell you both turkey and sausages were GRAND—a sort of mutual admiration society in their intermingling of flavors.

Try the sausage idea some time when you are roasting a chicken. Tomorrow I will tell you about something else I learned from my Canadian friends.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Sweet Dinner Rolls (Ice Box Method)

1 cup hot water
1 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons melted lard
1 tablespoon salt
2 cakes compressed yeast
1/4 cup tepid water to dissolve yeast

2 well-beaten eggs
7 cups sifted flour
Cold weather just seems made for hot rolls and this easy recipe permits you to have them almost at a moment's notice. The dough will stay fresh for a full week if kept in the refrigerator.

Scald together the milk, water and lard. Take from the fire and cool to blood warmth—or tepid. Break the two yeast cakes into the fourth cup of tepid water and dissolve, add to the tepid milk part, and beat well, add the two well beaten eggs and the salt, then four cups of the flour. This makes a fairly thick batter but one that can be beaten.

Do this, then add gradually the other three cups of flour, turn onto a lightly floured board and knead briskly for two minutes. Place this ball of dough in a buttered covered bowl and put into the refrigerator until wanted. (Rolls may be made from it immediately, of course.)

When rolls are wanted from the chilled dough, cut off small bits, shape, arrange in buttered pans and let rise until doubled in bulk. About 2 hours in a warm kitchen will do this part. Bake the rolls in a hot oven for about 15 minutes, brush with melted butter just as the rolls are taken from the hot oven.

The recipe will make 3 1/2 dozen small rolls and each of these rolls will have a caloric value of 100, the kind that give you a yen to go out and buy the moon on cold nights or hang up new records in winter sports.

Is entertaining at dinner hard for you? Do you find it hard to plan a good meal? Are you inclined to plan too generously, and so run to fussiness? If you can qualify on any of these counts you will find all sorts of help in the leaflet offered this week: The Perfect "Small" Dinner Party, available free of charge if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Trifle, an old-fashioned dessert made in a new way, will be the subject of tomorrow's cooking lesson.

Midway City

Carnival Planned

Plans for a carnival to be held the afternoon and evening of St. Patrick's day, March 17, were formulated at the regular meeting of the Midway City Woman's club Thursday afternoon. Committees were appointed to arrange for the different features of the carnival, among which will be a supper and fancy work, apron, candy and fortune telling booths. The regular program committee of the club will be in charge of a program for the evening. Final arrangements for the carnival are to be made at the next regular club meeting.

The club is to make another quilt and plans for this were taken up at the meeting. Community singing was held and two vocal solos by Mrs. Schureman and two piano duets by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson and Mrs. Myrtle Robertson were on Thursday's social program at the close. Miss P. A. Houlihan and Mrs. A. E. Holly, hostesses for the day, served ginger bread with whipped cream topped with sweets, and coffee.

Cards Enjoyed

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shirey were hosts to a friendly group in their home when their card club met for a potluck dinner early in the evening and the remainder of the time was devoted to bridge. Tallying the scores, it was found that Mrs. Proctor won first prize, Mr. Shirey, second, and Mrs. Ryder, consolation prizes.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Ryder and Mr. and Mrs. James Proctor and two children, of Huntington Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Nelson and son, Raymond Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shirey and son and daughter, Donald and Miss Helen Shirey, of this place.

Guest at Shower

Miss Helen Shirey was a guest at a surprise shower given by Mrs. E. Lihou at her Huntington Beach home for her daughter, Miss Phyllis Lihou, whose coming marriage to Claud Fredricks has been announced. Six tables of bridge were played by the group present. Lovely refreshments followed the card games.

Fullerton

Arrange Program

Plans for future events to be sponsored by the Fullerton Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil war were made at a meeting of members Monday afternoon in Odd Fellows hall. Ota Everett, newly installed president, presided at the business session.

The president appointed the flower committee, which included Julia Cusick, chairman; Margaret French and Edna Williams. Two officers, Margaret Mathias and Leah House, who were absent at the recent installation of officers, were installed by the president.

Plans were completed for a silver tea to be held January 30 in the home of the new president at 446 East America avenue. It was decided that a covered dish luncheon will be held at the next regular meeting February 2 in Odd Fellows hall. Emma Vest, Mollie Race and Margaret French were appointed on the luncheon committee.

Fund Plan Endorsed

Discussion of the proposed two-cent-a-week contribution for a national endowment fund was an outstanding feature of the meeting of the Fullerton Business and Professional Women's club in the banquet room of McFarland's cafe Tuesday night. Miss Carrie Adams presided.

The guest artist of the evening, Madame Beatrix de Whytemere, was unable to be present, but sent one of her students, Miss Ruth Satia, contralto, of Los Angeles. Miss Satia was accompanied by Miss Maude Hedrick, also of Los Angeles. She sang "Only The Sad of Heart" and a German folk song. As an encore, she sang Joyce Kilmer's "Trees."

The routine business was taken up following the dinner and a social hour closed the evening. It was explained that according to the national federation plan, each member is to save two cents a week for a year. The plan was endorsed by the club members. A collection was taken for the Red Cross drive with $18 collected to give to campaign workers. Additional contributions were received from members who were not present at the meeting.

Barbara Weeks and Phillip Holmes in a scene from "Man To Man," Warner Brothers production, which comes to the Fox West Coast theater for a three-day run, starting tomorrow.

'MANSLAUGHTER' ON AT WALKER STATE

A strange mixture of love and hate is seen in "Manslaughter," which opened a three day run at the Walker-State theater last night.

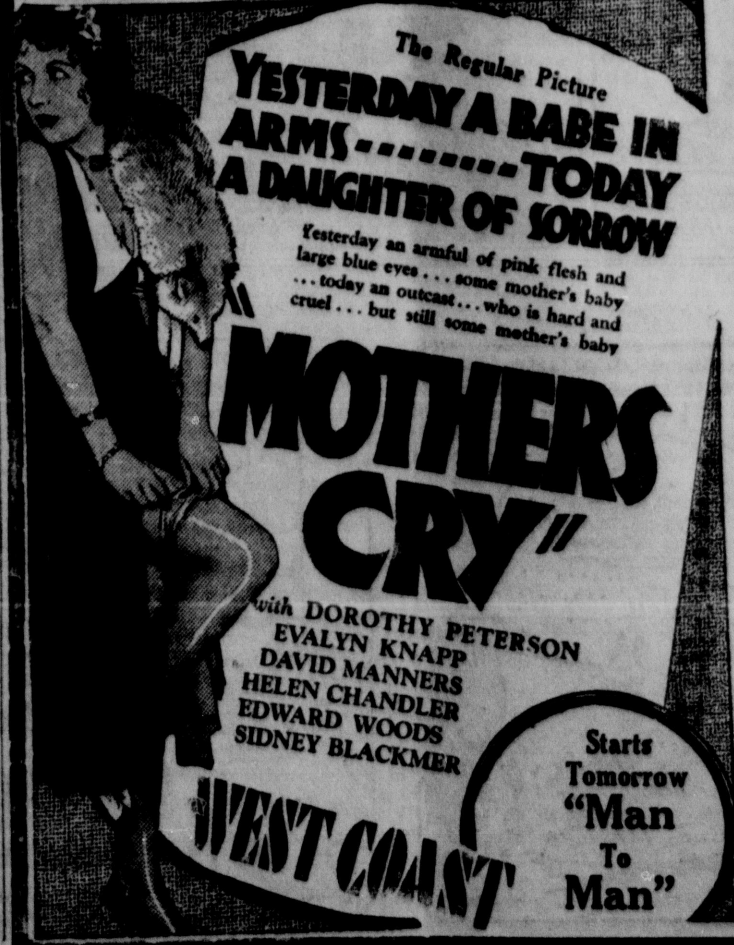

Claudette Colbert, beautiful, young, talented, endowed with great wealth and assured position, lives life riotously. Her every whim is a reality. She falls in love with Frederic March, but, when she cannot wind this handsome young district attorney around her frivolous fingers, she casts him off. Then the tragedy, and the district attorney is forced to prosecute this girl he loves for manslaughter. She goes to prison, vowing vengeance and there learns what life really means. She lives the drab routine of prison life where social distinction is unknown.

'Charley's Aunt' From Brazil, where the Nuts Come From!

AIDED AND ABETTED BY JUNE COLLYER

'MAN TO MAN' OPENS IN S. A. TOMORROW

"Man to Man," Warner Brothers production of the Ben Ames Williams' story which ran in the Saturday Evening Post, comes to the Fox West Coast theater tomorrow for a three day run.

The story concerns the efforts of a small town barber to live down a prison term after he repents to his home town and his attempted sacrifice to save his boy from the same fate. Grant Mitchell, formerly of the stage, has the leading role while the role of the son is played by Phillip Holmes, who will be remembered here in "The Criminal Code." Lucille Powers plays the girl part in the picture. She is in love with the boy.

'ANIMAL CRACKERS' ON AT WEST COAST

How can two children in the same family be opposites in character and everything else when they have the same mother?

This is the question and the answer is seen in "Mother's Cry," a Warner Brothers production, which plays at the Fox West Coast theater today only.

Monday's "revival" for the West Coast theater is "Animal Crackers," starring the Four Marx Brothers. Each Monday, the theater features one of last year's star pictures and the funniest of them all was "Animal Crackers." It is a picture absolutely devoid of sense, but one that will make any audience laugh back in its seats and yell with laughter.

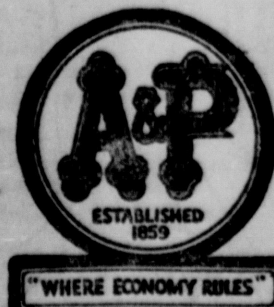

There is a musical comedy plot, but it doesn't amount to much. The entire show is carried by the four famous brothers who have turned "Animal Crackers" into a scream.

'CHARLIE'S AUNT' IS WELL RECEIVED HERE

When theater men forget their dignity to such an extent that they are found holding their sides with laughter over a picture, then there is some reason to believe that the picture is funny, but this is what happened at a preview showing of "Charlie's Aunt," now playing at the Fox Broadway theater.

"It's a silly thing—not worth looking at," one of the employees of the Fox Broadway theater said. Fifteen minutes later he was rolling in his seat. "Charlie's Aunt" is pure "hokum" from start to finish. Yet, it has caused more laughter in Santa Ana than any picture that has been here in years, according to Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager. The picture opened Sunday and plays through Tuesday night.

Charles Ruggles, fast becoming one of the screen's greatest comedians has the principal role in the picture.
